It's Showtime

By Brian Kanke
Chairman of Zoo Pharma Dynamics

Welcome to the show. We always bring out the best in our animals. Could it be possible; an Oscar worthy movie or an Award-Winning Documentary but then again animal disease and animal medicine are somewhat boring to most.

Zoo Pharma Dynamics has been and is still working hard to fight against diseases of Cervid's as well as other animals. Our written documentary goes like this, maybe one day we will film a documentary. In the meantime, with over 12 years of research on a working deer farm with a complete research laboratory that consists of Whitetail deer and Red Deer we have chosen to not except no for an answer in our research and development. I come from a fourth-generation sheep farming family with ties to Ohio, Michigan, Pennsylvania, Texas and Wisconsin. Those states have a familiarity; they are CWD hot spots. Scrappies, the prion disease in sheep is nothing new to me.

The Prion disease in sheep is the same in all other susceptible species; the name only changes-based on species. Our research comes from what changed: how is it now so prevalent: what is causing these positives: what is the host? Scrapie was first discovered in 1732 in England and in Texas we just discovered it in Mule Deer in 2012. The landscaped has changed in the United States due to self-imposed acts and natural weather phenomena. In England overgrazing resulted in multiple diseases, those diseases were transferred here through the export of sheep to the United States. Scrappies was one of the diseases, but our virgin landscape provided an answer to fight the disease in the beginning.

The expansion and explosion of human habitat along with weather phenomena changed the landscape resulting in the uptick of the prion disease. We at Zoo Pharma Dynamics have gone back to the virgin landscape and found the extracts that prevent CWD. We will conquer this disease and protect the deer farming industry in the USA and abroad. If you have a CWD issue please let us know we will help you fight the problem.
